I would like to calm the worried phone calls and rumors out there that RAIN has lost our funding and is no longer in existence. As you will see in this issue, our students and program have been and continue to be very busy. Last year, RAIN submitted a proposal for a third cycle to the HRSA Nursing Workforce Diversity. We were recommended for funding but not funded. This meant a loss in funding for our writing and science mentors, some scholarships, the “No Excuses” Orientation, student travel, reservation and faculty travel. On the positive side, our funding through IHS remains intact for support staff, scholarships and travel as well as financial support from private foundations. We have been working diligently with the College of Nursing, the President’s office, and the UND Alumni and Foundation office to replace what is not currently funded. We are working on collaborative efforts with other programs, colleges and other funding resources. Our first priority has been and always will be our students. Our program is strong and we continue to serve our students! - Deb Wilson

The 2010 RAIN/WIND “No Excuses” Orientation was held from May 31 to June 8, 2010 in Grand Forks. Over 20 participants from around the country took part in the busy 8-day orientation. Activities included daily morning prayers and talking circles led by Indian Elder Loretta Jeanotte-Leith, and many guest speakers from the campus and region. During orientation, RAIN staff provided sessions on the College of Nursing and UND requirements and expectations, math and science overviews, writing workshops, and practical applications that pertain to nursing. Students were also able to spend some time in the College of Nursing’s Clinical Simulation and Resource Center, allowing them the opportunity to experience ‘real-life’ nursing practices.

RAIN Program Coordinator, Deb Wilson and Assistant Program Coordinator, Barb Anderson attended the National Indian Health Board (NIHB) Conference in Washington, D.C., September 12 to 16, 2009. Speakers at the conference included Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius, several senators including Byron Dorgan and the director of Indian Health Services, Dr. Yvette Roubideaux. Deb and Barb provided information about the RAIN Program and learned about the upcoming legislation that may impact our program and Indian country.

Other Conferences Attended:

International Mentoring Association 23rd Annual Conference: “Diversity in Mentoring: Connection through Mentoring: Transforming Communities, Cultures, and Networks,” March 16 to 19, 2010, in Orlando, FL. Deb Wilson, Barb Anderson, and Amy Fiala, RAIN Nurse Mentor, attended.

American Indian Higher Education Consortium (AIHEC) 2010 Annual Conference: March 19 to 23, 2010 in Chandler, AZ. Deb Wilson and Barb Anderson attended.

NDUS Diversity Council Conference, April 22, 2010 in Bismarck, ND. Barb Anderson attended.
As noted in the American Association of Colleges of Nursing News Watch, December 2009, Barb Anderson, Assistant Program Coordinator of the RAIN Program, was recently recognized for her dedication to American Indian programs. The North Dakota Indian Education Association (NDIEA) awarded Barb their 2009 Community Service Award, recognizing her “fourteen years of community service to tribal youth via the UND Indians into Medicine (INMED) Summer Institute.” Director of UND’s American Indian Student Support Services Leigh Jeanotte, who nominated Barb, says of her, “Overseeing the activities and wellbeing of that many high school students for so many years is worthy of recognition.” Leigh goes on to say: “That Barb did it so very well speaks volumes about her character and commitment to the American Indian youth of the communities.”

“This recognition is so well deserved. How many people do you know willing to give up their summers for all those years to work with students 24/7?” asks Deb Wilson, RAIN Program Coordinator. “The impact is seen when the RAIN Program is out recruiting locally, regionally and nationally. So many individuals in healthcare and education we meet know Barb because she had worked with them when they were in junior high or high school. She has much to be proud of. Indian country can be very proud of the continued impact Barb has with American Indian people” (CON website).

Also at UND’s Founders’ Day Banquet in February, Barb received an award for 25 years of employment at the University. Congratulations, Barb!

Rain Program Highlighted in Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Article
The RAIN Program was highlighted in the May 2010 Issue of Charting Nursing’s Future, a publication of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. The article was titled “New Curricula and Technology: Reaching Rural and Ethnic Communities.” This article can be retrieved free of charge from www.rwj.org.

Cultural Identities and Nursing Survey
Hello! My name is Elizabeth YellowBird and I am a graduate student working on my PhD in Educational Leadership. I am currently conducting a survey of cultural identities and nursing. Within the next few weeks a survey will be emailed to students who have graduated from UND RAIN since 2000. Please take a few minutes and complete the survey. The survey will only take about 10 minutes and could be very important for future students. I have discussed this survey with Deb Wilson and have completed all of the forms necessary. For your information, all names and identifiers will be removed and your confidentiality will be protected. If you have any questions there will be a name and telephone number listed on the first portion of the survey. Thank you very much!” ~Elizabeth YellowBird

“STAR” Room
We are proud to announce a new edition to our RAIN Program area. The “STAR” (Students, Tutors, and Resources) room is a place for tutors and students to work in a quiet environment. It is also home to many current pre-nursing and nursing textbooks and a variety of other helpful resources.

RAIN is on Facebook!
Facebook is a social networking site that is a great way to help you stay in touch with other RAIN fans. If you don’t have a Facebook account yet, it’s easy to get started. Go to http://www.facebook.com/ and sign up. It’s free and anyone can join. Once you are signed up for Facebook you can find ‘friends’ with the built-in friend finder and fill out your own profile. You can put as much or as little information as you would like on your profile, but remember not to put anything about yourself that you wouldn’t want others to see.

Now what? All that’s left is to stay in touch with everyone else on Facebook. You can do this by posting ‘status’ updates of yourself, posting on someone else’s ‘wall’, chatting live with people that are online with you, or, if you prefer things a little more ‘private’, send an e-mail message to a friend.

And, of course, don’t forget to visit RAIN University of North Dakota on Facebook and become a fan!
